DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a) because they fail to show the reference numbers for the following elements: the mooring line, the deployment (is the support line 6 the same as the deployment line?), the means for releasably attaching the mooring line (is this element 47?), the means for permanently attaching the mooring line to the deployment, and fails to show the mooring line "shorter" than the deployment line as described in the specification. Any structural detail that is essential for a proper understanding of the disclosed invention should be shown in the drawing. MPEP § 608.02(d). Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. Claims 1-3 and 5-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Head (US 6,223,671) alone. Regarding claim 1, Head discloses a seabed installation device (see Figs. 2-4) that includes a soil penetration means (34, 45), a deployment line (42) that suspends the soil penetration means, and a mooring line (24) releasably attached to the soil penetration means and the deployment line is releasably attached to the soil penetration means (see Figs. 5-7). The device of Head differs from the claimed invention in that the mooring line is not permanently secured to the deployment line (claims 1 and 5) and is not shorter than the deployment line (claim 2). However, the length of the mooring line and location at which it is secured to the device would be a matter of design choice since these things have not been shown to solve any stated problem or serve any particular purpose. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made that the mooring line could be secured to a variety of locations on the device, including the deployment line, and could be of any appropriate length.

Regarding claim 3, the deployment line supplies power to the soil penetration means (col. 2 line 2+). Regarding claims 6 and 7, the deployment line supplies electric power or hydraulic power to the soil penetration means (col. 3 line 33+). Regarding claim 8, the penetration means includes an auger (34, col. 3 line 30). Regarding claim 9, the device includes means (could be fins) capable of resisting torque generated by the penetration means (col. 2 line 14+). Regarding claim 10, the device includes measurement and control means to access penetration characteristics and to alter action based on the characteristics (col. 4 line 52+). Regarding claim 11, it is common practice to measure energy consumption when using powered devices. Regarding claim 12, the penetration means includes securement elements having a changeable profile (col. 4 line 45+, col. 5 line 1+).

Art Unit: 3671

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 02/20/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments assert that the attachment of the mooring line is permanent; however, the reference shows what is considered permanent. The claim language does not claim when or at what time during installation is this connection permanent. Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993), thus the rejection is maintained

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
